What are you waiting for ? Let's go.

This is ... the home you were talking about ?

Yep ... to be exact, I use only the basement but it's my home nonetheless...

... Well, excuse me ...

A home? It looks more like a studio to me.

Well, I am working on it... I have lots of stuff to move around ... and I've been lazy about it.

Ah, I remember now. You used to literally sing about opening a studio. Congrats on achieving the dream.

Heh, it's still got a long way to go ... It's not even open and doesn't even have a name to it.

For now, I need to finish my course ... and earn some money.

Still I don't see why you are living here ? Don't you have a home? Where is your dad ?

Mmm ... He ... came here with me... or not ... It's kind of confusing.

He passed away in America.

His old illness took him finally. His body returned with me to Korea ... He will be buried next to mom.

So ... there is only you left in the world.

...? What ?

You are the only one ... who knows my childhood ... and remembers me.

I don't have any relatives.

This building is the only thing I've gotten from my dad.

I don't think he enjoyed his time in America. He was always trying so hard and suffered as a result.

If he was going to end up coming home in a coffin ... I don't know why he tried to hard to go there in the first place.

Oops, I am sorry for trying to ruin the mood. Now, before we play, shall we finish the unfinished business ?

Unfinished business ?

I am someone who does his homeworks before playing. Besides, I need to get used to keeping up with a schedule if I am to open a studio.

Besides, a man who can't keep his words isn't a man !

I am a man of my word

I did promise you, remember ?

That I will take your picture if we ever meet again ...

Ah..., the promise ...

If we meet again...

Will you take a picture of me?

So, that's why ..

Why don't we go to my place?

He wanted me to go to his place ...

I admit I am late. I mean way late.

But at least I've kept my word !
